

Bright Coffee Shop

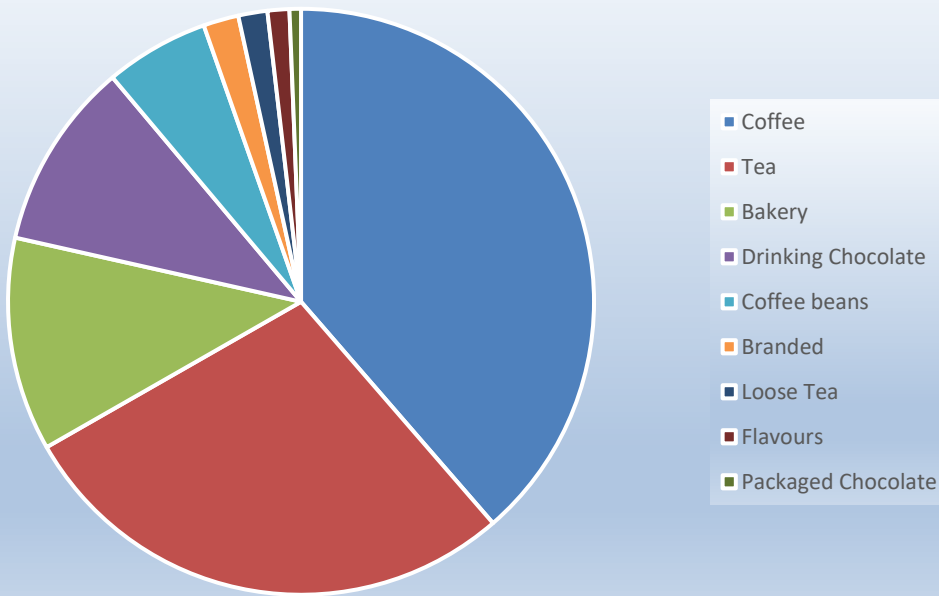

Table of Content

- Product Trends
- Revenue by Location
- Product Performance
- Recommendations
- Conclusion

Product Trends

Revenue by product

- Coffee is the highest revenue generating product followed by Tea and Bakery products.
- Packaged Chocolate, Flavours and Loose Tea contribute the least revenue.
- The business relies heavily on coffee and tea for revenue generation. Low performing products should be reviewed to improve sales or optimise the product offering.

Monthly Revenue

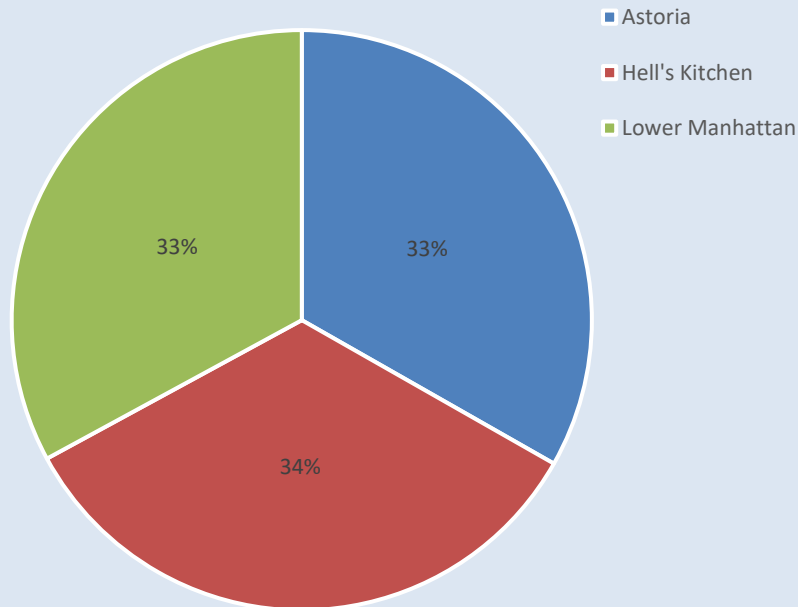

- Monthly revenue shows an overall upward trend with a slight decline in February before increasing steadily from March to June.
- The highest revenue was achieved during May and June.
- The consistent Increase in revenue indicates flowing customer demand and positive business performance.

Revenue By Location

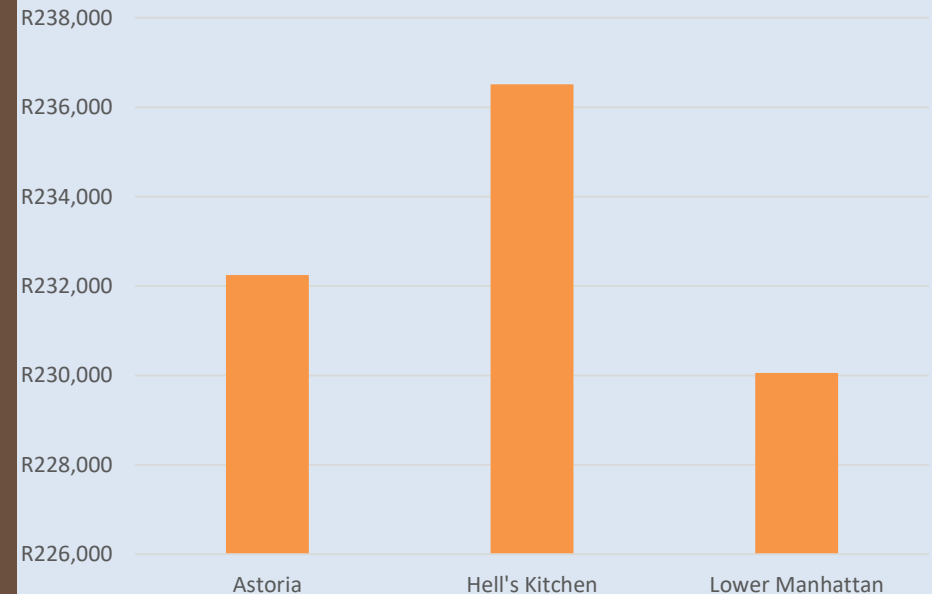

- Revenue is fairly evenly distributed across three stores.
- Hell's kitchen contributes slightly more revenue than the other locations.
- Lower Manhattan and Astoria perform similarly

- Hell's kitchen is the highest performing store.
- Astoria follows closely.
- Lower Manhattan records the lowest revenue.

Revenue Breakdown By Location

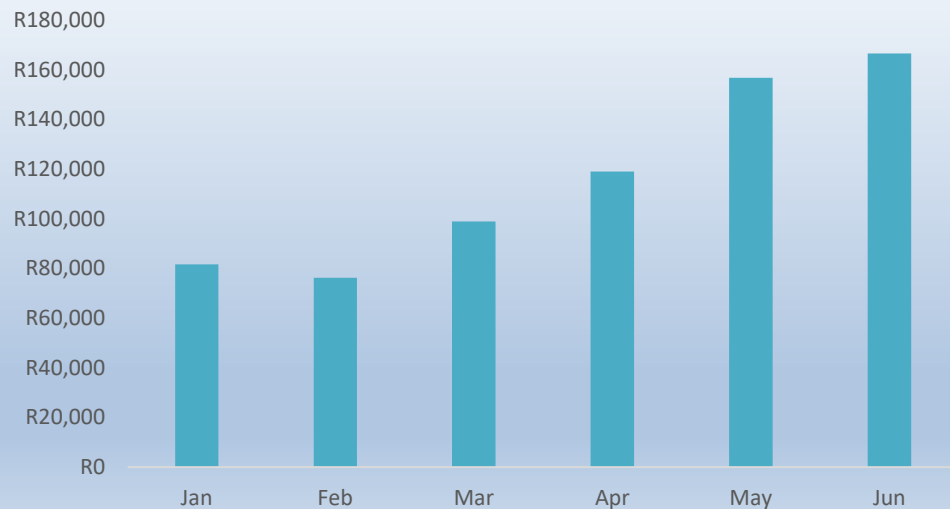

Total Revenue By Location

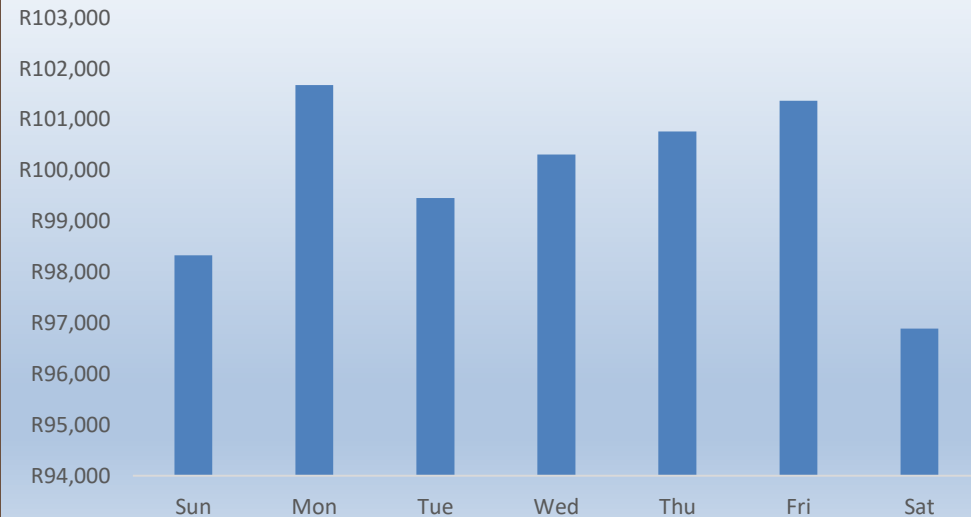

Product Performance

- Monthly sales growth increased consistently throughout the six-month period.
- May and June recorded the highest sales volumes. February experienced a slight dip before recovering.
- Customer demand is increasing, indicating healthy business growth.

Sales By Months

Sales By Days Of The Week

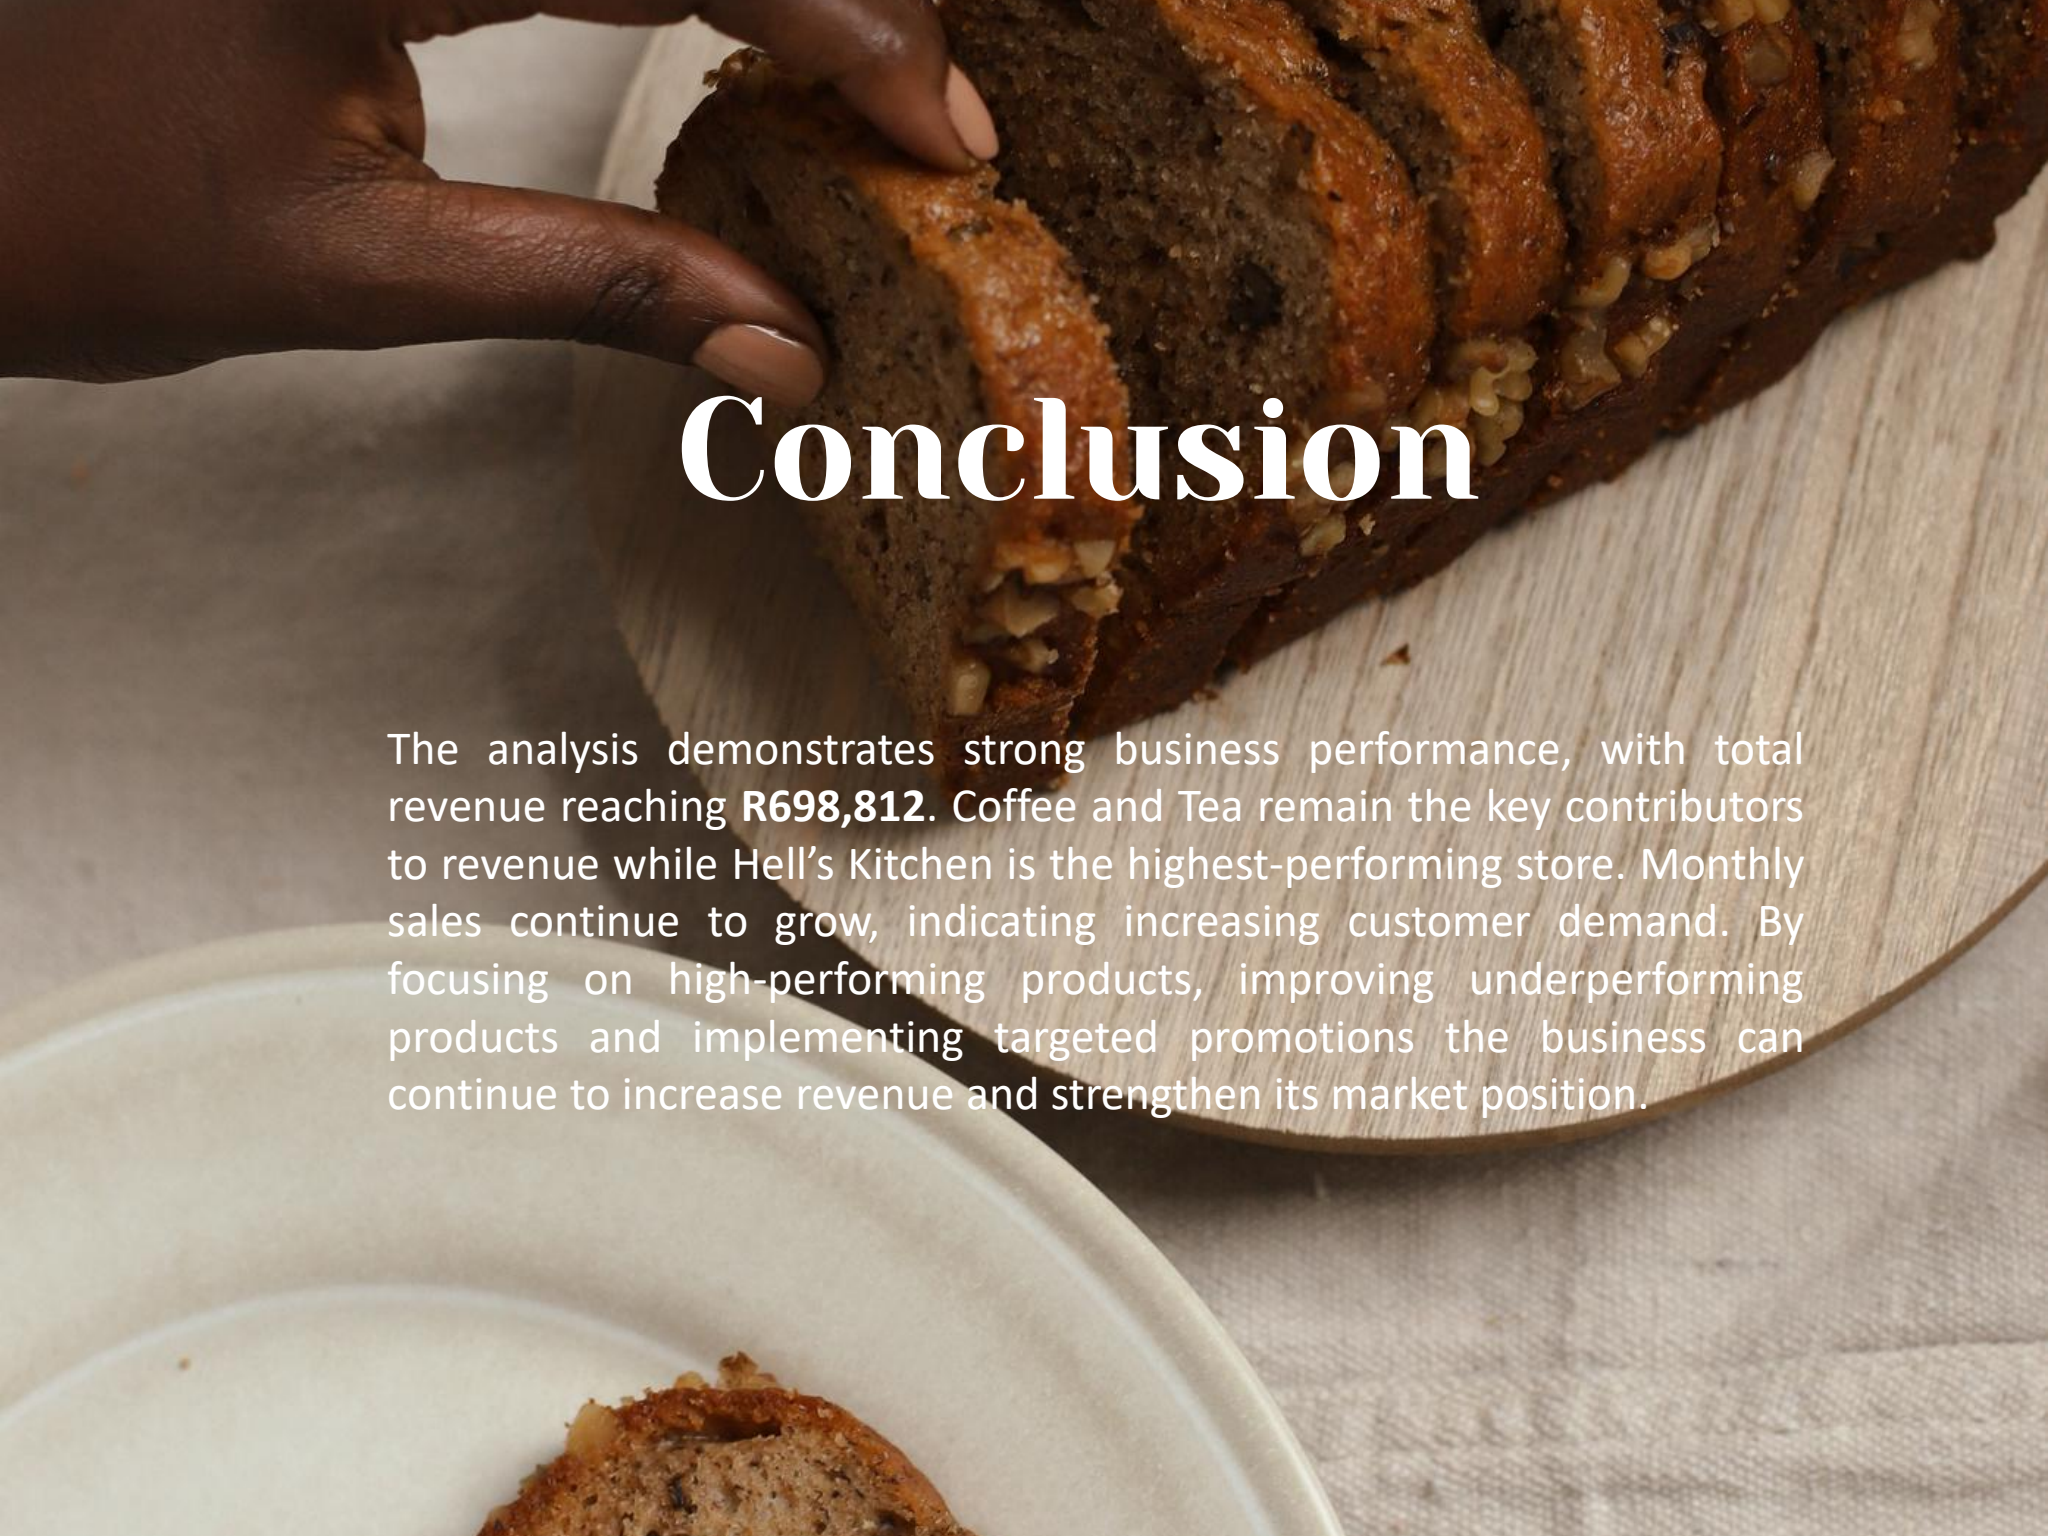

- Weekly sales analysis shows Monday and Friday record the highest sales, Saturday has lowest sales, and mid-week sales remain relatively stable.
- Customers are more active at the beginning and end of the working week.

Recommendations

- The business needs to continue promoting Coffee and Tea as flagship products.
- Reviewing of prices and marketing for low-performing products.
- Introduce promotions on Saturdays to improve weekend sales.
- Apply the business practices from Hell's kitchen to the other stores.
- Monitoring monthly trends for inventory and staffing planning

A close-up photograph of a hand with dark skin slicing a loaf of dark, nut-studded bread on a light-colored wooden cutting board. The bread is thick and moist, with visible chunks of nuts. A single slice of the bread is placed on a white plate in the foreground. The background is a neutral, light-colored surface.

Conclusion

The analysis demonstrates strong business performance, with total revenue reaching R698,812. Coffee and Tea remain the key contributors to revenue while Hell's Kitchen is the highest-performing store. Monthly sales continue to grow, indicating increasing customer demand. By focusing on high-performing products, improving underperforming products and implementing targeted promotions the business can continue to increase revenue and strengthen its market position.